Forecast For The United Kingdom
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 0400 on Tuesday 02 Feb 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 0600 and 1800

Headline:
Cold with some snow north. Milder but unsettled south.

Today:
Heavy snow affecting parts of northern England and southern Scotland, mostly turning to rain in northern England. Brighter and very mild further south, with bands of heavy showers. Wintry showers far north.

Tonight:
Rain over northern parts with snow mainly for higher ground of Scotland. Becoming windier in north. Some drier spells in south but heavier rain moving across the far south later.

Wednesday:
Rain in south clearing eastwards. Rain continuing for northern areas, particularly Scotland where some snow, particularly for higher parts in the east. Cold and windy in north.

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Persistent and heavy snow continuing across parts of northern Scotland. Further rain, locally heavy for northern England/southern Scotland. Sunshine and showers elsewhere. Cold in the north, spreading south by Saturday.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.